DETAILED ACTION

Response to Remarks

1. Applicants' arguments and amendments, filed on 7/29/02, have been approved and entered. They have been fully considered but they are not deemed to be persuasive. Rejections and/or objections not reiterated from previous office actions are hereby withdrawn. The following rejections and/or objections are either newly applied or reiterated. They constitute the complete set presently being applied to the instant application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 55-62, 65-79 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Chamberlin et al. (WO 95/20682).

Chamberlin et al. discloses the addition of osmolytes, to sequencing reactions and PCR as they are known to destabilize double-stranded DNA, thereby lowering the T_m of the DNA analyzed (see abstract and pages 8-12). Moreover, osmolytes are generally known to stabilize proteins and protect them from denaturation under stress conditions, such as heat.

Applicants have the arguments that the reference does not teach or suggest the instant application because the R1-R3 of the reference do not correspond to the R1-R3 of the instant application. The R1-R3 are just letters to symbolize groups of chemical substituent. R1-R3 of the instant application do not have to be the R1-R3 of the reference. What matters is actually the chemical moiety represented by these symbols. For example if X of the reference is C=O, it can be viewed as one of the R1-R3 of the instant application, therefore the other substituent can be alkyl moieties.

Second, it is unclear how the pyrrolidine ring of formula II I claim 55 does not have the same structure of the reference. Formula II of claim 55 is viewed to be identical, for example, when X is C, and Y is N.

4. Claims 63 and 64 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for response to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the date of this action. In the event a first response is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event will the statutory period for response expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
